PORSCHE MISSION X
A VIVID DREAM OF INCREDIBLE PERFORMANCE

Celebrating 75 years of Porsche sports cars, the storied marque today revealed its newest concept car: the Mission X. As a design study, not offered for sale, with production to be decided in due time, the Mission X is a glimpse into what the sports car of the future could look like.

"The Porsche Mission X is a technology beacon for the sports car of the future. It picks up the torch of iconic sports cars of decades past: like the 959, the Carrera GT and the 918 Spyder before it, the Mission X provides critical impetus for the evolutionary development of future vehicle concepts," says Oliver Blume, Chairman of the Executive Board of Porsche AG. "Daring to dream and dream cars are two sides of the same coin for us: Porsche has only remained Porsche by constantly changing."

Michael Mauer, Head of Style Porsche, says: "The Mission X is a clear commitment to the core of the brand. The continuing, enhanced expression of our brand and product identity is an important compass for us to navigate the development of our series-production models. The concept study symbolizes a symbiosis of unmistakable motorsport DNA with a luxurious overall impression."

Measuring approximately 177 inches long and 78.7 inches wide, the Mission X concept study is a relatively compact hypercar. With a wheelbase of 107.4 inches, it has the dimensions of the Carrera GT and 918 Spyder. For aerodynamic purposes, the concept car has staggered tires, with 20-inch wheels at the front and 21-inch wheels at the rear.

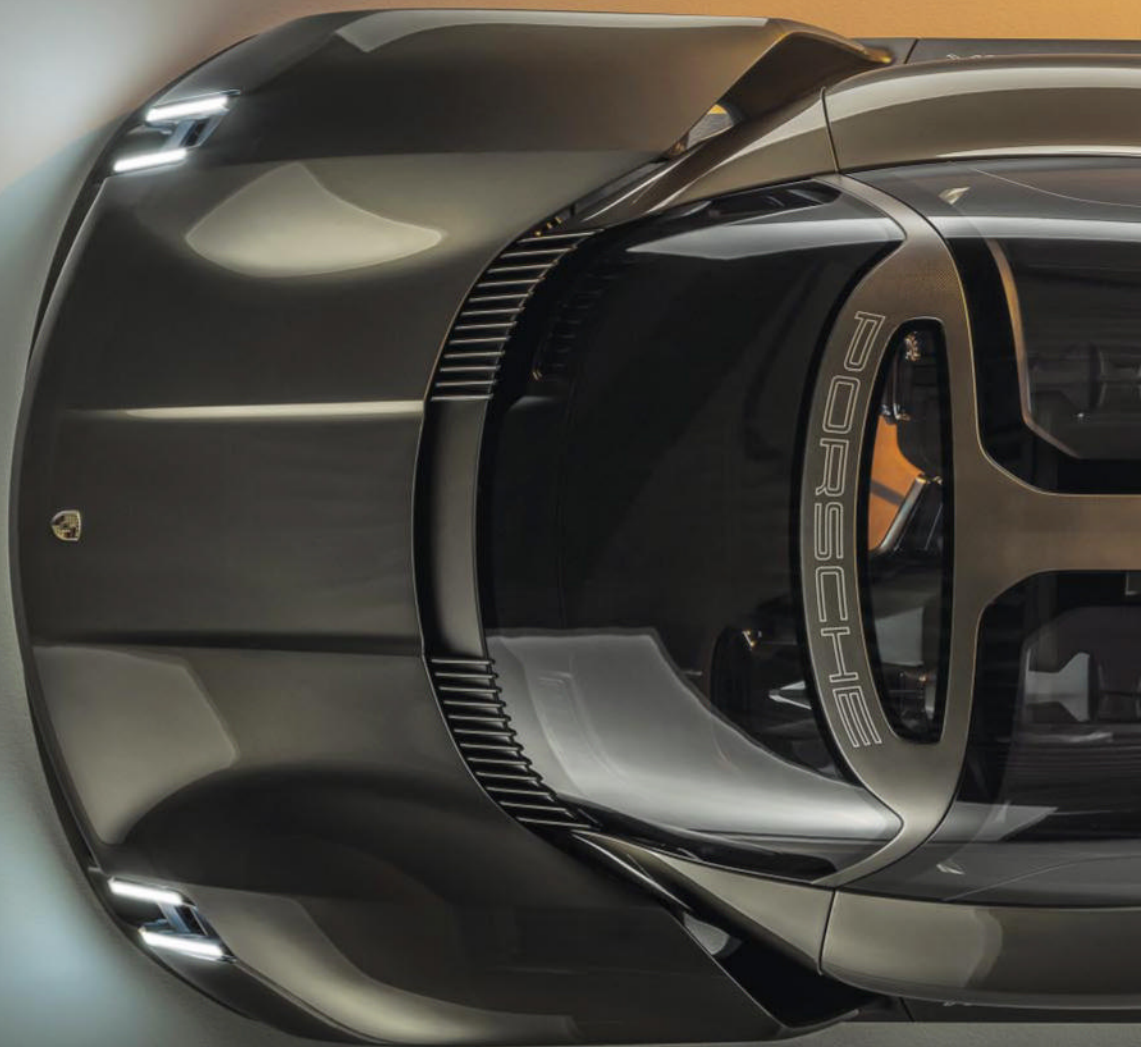

Design: classic brand elements reinterpreted

The Mission X represents the pinnacle of performance and modern luxury. At the same time, its sculpted form and muscular lines demonstrate that hypercars do not have to look aggressive. The low-slung body, which is less than 47.2 inches tall, is finished in Rocket Metallic – an elegant paint color specially designed for the concept study. Design elements in a carbon fiber are found below the beltline. These components have a satin finish and are therefore slightly colored, but their material structure remains recognizable.

The wheels of the concept study feature elaborate details: the rear axle is fitted with almost transparent aero blades, which are designed like turbines for better cooling of the brakes.

A lightweight glass dome with an exoskeleton made of carbon fiber reinforced plastic (CFRP) extends over both occupants. Le Mans-style doors are attached to the A-pillar and the roof; they open forwards and upwards. This type of door was previously used on the legendary Porsche 917 racing car. Another eye-catcher is the light signature: for the Mission X, the designers have reinterpreted the characteristic Porsche four-point graphic. The vertical base form of the headlights was inspired by historic racing cars such as the Porsche 906 and 908 and drawn well down towards the road. A high-tech support structure frames the LED light modules and presents the exposed narrow elements of daytime running lights and indicators. When activated, the light opens up like an eye blinking open. Fully illuminated, the headlights make a confident statement.

A full-length light unit that appears to float characterizes the rear of the Mission X. Transparent, illuminated Porsche lettering is a standout feature. The sculptural rear light emerges, as if suspended in the air, from a support structure and extends across the entire width of the vehicle in four segments. While charging, the 'E' of the Porsche lettering pulses.

One special detail is the modernized Porsche crest, which makes its debut on the Mission X. Brushed precious metal, a three-dimensional honeycomb structure, a refreshed heraldic beast and more subtle gold color – on close inspection, these are the differences between the modernized Porsche crest and its immediate forerunner. With its cleaner and more state-of-the-art execution, the refined crest communicates the character of Porsche. On the Mission X, it is found on the hood and steering wheel as well as in monochrome form on the wheel centers.

The driver focus can be seen in the asymmetry of the interior and its color concept. The two seats are colored differently. Apart from the leather pads in Andalusia Brown, the driver's seat is Kalahari Grey and forms a single unit of color with the center console and the dashboard. The passenger seat is in the contrasting Andalusia Brown shade. Beyond the CFRP seat shells, and their six-point seatbelts integrated into the monocoque, further motorsport parallels include the open-top steering wheel, which has mode switches and shift paddles. There are multiple cameras on board. Recording starts as soon as the driver presses the Record button (REC) on the multi-purpose controller.

Another highlight is found on the passenger side, where there is a bayonet system embedded in the instrument panel to which a stopwatch module can be attached. For the Mission X, Porsche Design has created a special stopwatch module with an analogue and digital display. The clocks are designed for both racetrack and rally use and can display the lap times or vital data of the driver, among other information.

Technical vision: top marks in power-to-weight ratio, downforce and charging performance

Porsche exemplifies e-performance yet is also a pioneer in sustainable mobility. The concept study meets both objectives in full measure. If the Mission X goes into series production, then it should:

- be the fastest road-legal vehicle around the Nürburgring Nordschleife
- have a power-to-weight ratio of roughly one hp per 2.2 lbs.
- achieve downforce values that are well in excess of those delivered by the current 911 GT3 RS
- offer significantly improved charging performance with its 900-volt system architecture and charge roughly twice as quickly as the current Porsche frontrunner, the Taycan Turbo S

The battery is installed centrally behind the vehicle's seats. This 'e-core layout' centers the mass in the car. As with a conventionally powered mid-engine car, this provides the basis for excellent agility.

Predecessors: innovative super sports cars from Porsche

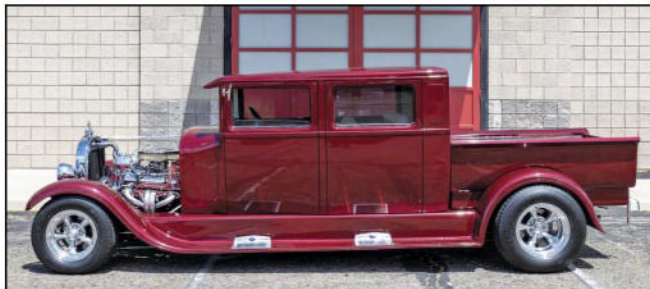

The fastest series-production car of its time; first series-production Porsche to be made of carbon fiber, and the first road-legal vehicle to beat the seven-minute mark on the Nürburgring Nordschleife – the Porsche 959 (1985), Carrera GT (2003) and 918 Spyder (2013) were milestone models in the world of super sports cars. And that makes them the conceptual forerunners of the Mission X.

In 1985, the Porsche 959 made its debut as a technology platform. Its 443 hp six-cylinder twin-turbo boxer engine, combined with an aerodynamically optimized body, propelled the super sports car to a top speed of 197 mph – then the world record for a series-production sports car.

With its V10 engine and 605 hp, fierce design and, not least, its incomparable driving experience, the Porsche Carrera GT remains an icon among super sports cars to this day.

Porsche hybrid technology reached a spectacular zenith with the 918 Spyder. In September 2013, the 887 hp two-seater was the first road-approved vehicle to crack the seven-minute barrier on the 12.8-mile Nürburgring Nordschleife, completing the lap in 6:57 minutes. Porsche aims to stay true to this standard of the highest e-performance: our vision, should the Mission X go into series production, is for it to be the fastest road-legal vehicle on the Nürburgring Nordschleife. www.porsche.com

FRANK AAZAMI'S FEATURED LISTING
HOME IN THE HILLS

written by Frank Aazami (with David M. Brown)

The owners have just offered a significant price improvement on this custom cul-de-sac home on 1.6 acres in guarded Clearwater Hills, 4129 East Sandy Mountain Road. The European-style residence was designed and built with the highest-quality materials in 2015 and was completely reimagined six years later in 2021 by Kurt Holland, principal of Incline Custom Homes, a design/build firm.

Comprising 5,832-plus square feet, the Contemporary single-level home has five pitched roof lines that stylistically echo Sandy Mountain behind it. Two split masters are included and two additional bedrooms, and there are four and a half bathrooms. One master has a sitting room.

An extended four-car garage offers direct access to the home by stairwell or elevator. Five additional slab spaces are available just beside.

Designed for the indoor/outdoor Arizona lifestyle, the hillside home, built on a north/south exposure, includes a blue-tiled infinity pool surrounded by mountain and city lights views to enjoy the beauty of the desert and the world-famous weather. Four covered patios offer coolness and protection.

"This home boasts the latest amenities for modern living; it's a true masterpiece and a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity," says Frank Aazami, RLSIR Brand Ambassador, principal of the Private Client Group at Russ Lyon Sotheby's in Scottsdale. "And, it's been completely upgraded in the last few years by a man I think is one of the best hillside design/builders in the Valley, Kurt Holland. So it's almost a new-build by a top local professional."

Those amenities include two-pane windows; floor-to-ceiling view windows; hardwood floors; full automation with smart connectivity; a security system; a focal-point glass-walled wine room; three fireplaces; an exterior fireplace; a firepit; and a built-in BBQ outside the kitchen. The home uses natural gas for heating and cooking, a recirculation pump and tankless water heater.

The chef's dream kitchen features European cabinetry; a large island; extensive entertaining space; a gas range/oven and cooktop; disposal; dishwasher; built-in microwave; multiple ovens; a reverse osmosis system; a breakfast bar and a walk-in pantry. Full of light, the kitchen faces toward the outdoor kitchen patio where a waterfall drops from the granite hillside.

Other spaces include a great room, an office and a sun/exercise room with views toward the mountains.

Making a Good Home Great

In 2021, Holland updated a variety of features including the floors, wiring and plumbing. He completely updated the kitchen and the bathrooms.

He's been in the building industry for more than 50 years; 45 of these he has designed and built custom homes. Since 1999, he has been principal of Incline, specializing in the technical aspects of hillside building.

"I grew up in Scottsdale and have taken my design cues from the natural desert and topography of the land," he says. "I have been fortunate enough to have worked for many wonderful and interesting clients."

He met the owners of the home when they purchased the property a few years ago. They wanted him to design and build the upgrades, which they did in two phases.

The first allowed reconfiguration of the living and family rooms into different spaces; he also relocated the entry. Holland and his team also introduced new materials, restructured the living room fireplace and worked on numerous details including hard surfaces and cabinetry. He also rebuilt the roofline.

In the second phase, he enlarged the garage and decreased the slope of the approach drive. He also extended the front and side yards by building retaining and cantilever structures. Holland also added a primary suite, making the former primary into guest/office space.

“Our main challenges were to concentrate on the view corridors and make the home look as though it was built from the ground up,” Holland says, noting that he is particularly proud of the artwork he did at the exterior entry wall where one color flows upward, transforming into three primary colors to offer guests a warm welcome.

This property has been reduced to $6,500,000. A walk-through is at www.vimeo.com/811853799. To arrange a tour, please email, call or text Frank Aazami, principal of The Private Client group, Russ Lyon Sotheby's International Real Estate in Scottsdale: frank@PCGagents.com and 480.266.0240. Please share your comments about this property and others he and the PCG are offering by emailing, texting or calling him.

MCLAREN SCOTTSDALE NAMED MCLAREN, THE AMERICAS RETAILER OF THE YEAR 2022

McLaren Scottsdale has been named McLaren, the Americas Retailer of the Year 2022, announced at McLaren Automotive's annual Global Retailer Conference at its headquarters in Woking, UK, on April 25th. Representatives from each of McLaren Automotive's 102 retailers attended the conference between April 24 and 26, meeting with McLaren Automotive's CEO Michael Leiters for a detailed look at the brand's future model line-up and business strategy.

This is the seventh year of the McLaren Retailer of the Year awards, recognized around the world as a gold standard of supercar customer service and retail business administration. To determine each winner, McLaren Automotive benchmarks multiple areas of business on a monthly basis using a digital scorecard.

"We would like to thank all of our amazing clients across the country for helping us win this incredible award! We truly love what we do and look forward to serving you in 2023!"

Bret Bissey General Manager of McLaren Scottsdale

In addition to McLaren Scottsdale taking the trophy for the Americas retailers in 2022, four McLaren Americas retailers were named to brand's global "Premier Club" – a short list of the top 11 performing retailers worldwide: McLaren Philadelphia, McLaren Boston, McLaren Houston, and of course, McLaren Scottsdale.

"Having so many Americas retailers included in the Premier Club is something we're very proud of, and is a testament to the dedication and talent that makes up our retailer network in the Americas region. I want to personally congratulate McLaren Scottsdale on their title of 'Americas Retailer of the Year 2022' – a well-deserved accolade."

Great Garages

BUDD'S AND LAURIE'S GARAGE

written by David M. Brown

photos by Mason Wales

At the fifth Arizona Concours d'Elegance in Scottsdale this past winter, Budd and Laurie Florkiewicz showed a 1939 Delahaye and a 1949 Alfa Romeo from their 28-car collection ("Budd's Garage"), which includes American classics, vintage European and off-road vehicles.

"Almost all were in decent condition when we acquired them, and some we started from scratch with a full restoration," he adds. The couple's garage curator and mechanic, Lyman Scherer, completed most of these, excepting paint and interiors, which the couple contracted with top-quality specialists.

"We have driven several of them in rallies, including the Copperstate 1000, Copperstate Overland, Going to the Sun Rally and private rallies with friends," she says, noting that Budd usually drives the morning leg and she shifts over to the driver's seat for the afternoon.

He's from Chicago where he owned several companies; he moved to Phoenix in 1976. She's from the San Francisco Bay area and has also lived in New York and Atlanta. They met at Pebble Beach, California, while attending the wedding of a mutual friend; their love, and the car love, blossomed. They've been married for 25 years.

Many ribbons are on the walls and trophies. The garage also has a juke box, a bar, an office, a ventilated cigar room and many pictures of the couple driving their joys at rallies. What's the picture of Bud's Auto Body about? From a former career? "Just my children having fun. They saw it on their travels and snapped it," he says.

1949 Alfa Romeo 6c 2500 Super Sport 2nd Series Cabriolet

The collection includes cars with deep stories, such as a 1959 Triumph TR3 that participated in the grueling first 1967 Mexican 1000 in the Baja. Totally unprepared for its brutality, the TR3 broke a crankshaft 335 miles into the race. The abandoned race car stayed in Rancho Santa Ynez for 37 years without an engine or tranny before being reclaimed from its second-life role as a chicken coop. Restored in San Francisco, BajaTR3 was restored again in Budd's Garage. All race lettering had been done in 2014 by Warren Percell in Petaluma, Marin County, California. He painted the car originally in Walnut Creek, California, in 1967 for $600 in eight hours. In 2014, that job was $2,100 for 16 hours during three days.

European classics include a 1956 Lancia Aurelia B24S convertible with coachwork by Pinin Farina, a 2451-cc single-cam aluminum V-6, 4-speed rear transaxle with De Dion suspension (list, $3,850) and a 1959 Jaguar XK-150S Drop Head Coupe with a 3800-cc twin-camshaft inline 6 fed by SU HD6 carburetors, all producing 220 bhp (list, $7,420).

And, a 1968 Lamborghini 400 GT 2+2, #1252, #219 of 247, which began production two years earlier, has Carrozzeria Touring coachwork and features an aluminum V-12 engine and six Weber 40DCOE carburetors, producing 320 bhp, and a 5-speed Dallara 'All Syncro' transmission. List was $21,000.

The two Porsches are a 1959 356A Convertible D, #86319, with coachwork by Karosseriewerk Drauz. Budd, at 6 feet 4 inches, struggles to get in, but it's still prized standing outside. The first-generation 356 convertible listed at $5,916. And a 1964 Porsche 356 SC Cabriolet, #160013, features Karosserie Reutter coachwork and tops out at 120 mph; $8,570 was the list.

And, a 1966 Aston-Martin DB 6 Mark 1 "Superleggera," one of 140, features a 4200-cc twin-cam aluminum inline 6 cylinder with triple SU carburetors producing 325 BHP and a Tremec 5-speed over-drive transmission. List was a formidable $22,000. Her favorite? A birthday present one year from Budd is a superclassic 1957 Mercedes-Benz 300 SL. "I immediately put ostrich seats in it."

American Muscle History

Laurie has also bought cars at the auctions and by phone. "My 1964 turquoise Thunderbird convertible looked so good under the lights at the auction," she recalled. "I bought it because of the nostalgic era and the movie Thelma and Louise."

Introduced by Ford in 1955 as a sports car, the carmaker made it "A Classic Personal Luxury Car" from 1964–1966. The Space-Age-inspired tourer has white-leather interior and the optional tonneau cover. The 360-cube single-camshaft V-8 is topped by a 4-barrel carburetor, all producing 300 bhp. "She bought this when I went to the bathroom," Budd recalls with a laugh. A costly rest stop at $29,000. In 1964, it was an up-market $4,486.

American muscle also includes a 1957 Chevrolet Bel-Air Convertible, last of the Tri-Fives. "The Hot One," according to a Chevy ad that year, with a 283-ci 'Super Turbo Fire' small block V-8, rare dual-quad 'Power Pak' twin carburetors, a 2-speed TurboGlide automatic transmission and a posi-traction rear axle. It was $2,611.

A 1971 Pontiac GTO Judge convertible is one of just 17

convertibles and the only one with Castillian Bronze Paint, on a Sand Almond interior. The rare 455-cube HO Ram Air features "197" heads and is coupled with a GM Turbo-400 automatic. List price was $5,167. Another is a 1970 Chevrolet SS Chevelle LS6 convertible, equipped with a 454-cubic-inch Mark IV Turbo-Jet V-8, producing 450 bhp. The Fathom Blue with white sports stripes racer has the ZL2 Cowl Induction Hood and is one of just 20 LS6 Convertibles produced. List was in the fast lane: $4,425.

A 1970 Ford Bronco, part of the first Generation 1966–1977, was designed by Donald Frey, with a 302-CI Windsor V-8 producing 205 bhp together with a Ford C4 "Off-Road Upgraded" automatic. Ford raced Broncos until 1971 with Parnelli Jones delivering many wins. List: $3,665. And, a 1980 Jeep CJ-7 features upgrades such as a 350-ci engine with Chevy aluminum heads and a Holley Carb producing 425 bhp (List, $6,445).

Seven Specials

Here's a septet of the couple's faves.

•1938 Delahaye 135MS Competition Cabriolet — Featuring coachwork by DeVillier of Paris, #60123 was the Paris Salon Show Car and was hidden during WWII and discovered in France in the 1970s. The aluminum-clad beauty has a wood body on a steel frame. Completely restored by Andre Lecoq in Paris, it was Best of Show at the Bagatelle Concourse. Restored again in 2000 by Fran Roxas in Chicago, it won

1954 Ferrari Europa 250

Best of Class at Pebble Beach and Amelia Island Concours in 2003. The 3557-cc single camshaft inline 6 topped out at 110 mph. List price: about $8,000.

•1949 Alfa Romeo 6c 2500 Super Sport 2nd Series Cabriolet — With coachwork by Pinin Farina, #915770 has a 2443-cc aluminum twin-cam inline 6-cylinder, triple 36D02 Weber carburetors producing 105 bhp, a 4-speed synchromesh manual and 4-wheel independent suspension with hydraulic dampeners. It garnered “Best in Show” at the Danville Concours d’Elegance; “Best in Show” Ferndale “Judges Award” at the Niello Concours; and “Best in Class” La Jolla Concours d’Elegance. List $9,980, a lot of lira.

The couple also own a 1938 Alfa-Romeo 6C 2300 B with Mille Miglia coachwork. Only 107 models were produced in 1938. It’s powered by a 2309-cc aluminum twin-cam inline 6-cylinder and two Solex carbs, all generating 95 bhp. A 4-speed Alfa-Romero transmission make the wheels go round. List was a hefty $1,920.

•1953 Cadillac Eldorado Series 62 — Designed by the great Harley Earl, with Fleetwood coachwork, this elegant car is based on GM’s 1952 Motorama El Dorado and LeSabre concept cars. Rated at 210 horsepower, the 331-ci over-head-valve V-8 connects to a Hydra-Matic transmission with two separate ranges. It’s loaded with all options including Super power steering, power seats and windows and has a specially designed instrument panel with padded dash, automatic heating system and special radio. For just this year, all of these items were hydraulically driven; the next year they became electric, Budd explains. A few years ago, it appeared at the Arizona Concours. The carmaker’s most expensive model, at $7,750, it doubled the price of the standard Cadillac Convertible.

•1954 Ferrari Europa 250 — This very rare car, #345, with Pinin Farina coachwork, is one of the 17 Europas produced from 1953/1954. It was the first street production car by Ferrari, Lyman says. The 2952-cc Lampredi aluminum V-12 has three Weber 36DCF carburetors, with the powertrain output at 220 bhp and a 4-speed Ferrari All Syncro Transmission; it’s rated at 135 mph top speed. Restoration of the classic is a multi-year project; Lyman and his crew are almost complete. List: $12,000.

•1957 Mercedes 300 SL Roadster — “Laurie’s Pride,” #7500264, features coachwork by Daimler Benz and is #42 of 146 roadsters produced in 1957. Total production was 1,858 units through 1963. The classic has a 2996-cc over-head-cam inline slant 6-cylinder producing 250 bhp, Bosch fuel injection, 4-speed synchromesh transmission. Rated 165 mph for top speed, it listed for $11,400.

1960 Maserati 3500GT Vignale Spyder

1957 Mercedes 300 SL Roadster

1959 Arnolt-Bristol DeLuxe Roadster

Also in the collection, a 1956 Mercedes-Benz 300SC Roadster #6500136 is one of 53 SC Roadsters produced from 1955 to 1958. The 2996-cc overhead-camshaft inline six-cylinder produces 175 bhp. The list was $13,190.

•1960 Maserati 3500GT Vignale Spyder — The first car in the couple's collection, #AM-101/S-867 is #15 of the 242 produced from 1960 through 1963. The coachwork is by Micholetti at Vignale; the 3,485-cc aluminum twin-cam inline 6 produces 220 horses through the 5-speed ZF transmission. Rated 130 mph top speed, it was built for Roberto Zanisi of Brescia, director of Automotoclub Storico Italiano. List, $12,300.

•1959 Arnolt-Bristol DeLuxe Roadster — This is #22 of the 142 produced from 1954–1961. It was manufactured by Stanley H. Arnolt, Inc. as designed by Franco Scaglione. The 1971-cc BMW-based Bristol inline 6 and three Solex 32 carburetors produce 132 BHP. The chassis number #404/X/3022 reflects late-1954 series production, but the car possibly remained at factory as a mule or race car, as past roll bar installation is evident. The list was $6,500.

The Florkiewiczzes also have a 1955 Arnolt-MG convertible designed by Giovanni Michelotti and manufactured by Stanley H. Arnolt, Inc. featuring coachwork by Gruppo Bertone. Only 36 convertibles were produced for 1953 and 1954. The 1250-cc MG XPAG inline 4 produces 54 bhp. List, $2,195.

NIGHT SERIES

A New Era of Design for Mercedes-Maybach

Mercedes-Maybach presents Night Series – the next chapter in the brand's mission of evolving its curated portfolio and creating moments in which magic is born. It showcases striking details such as dark chrome elements, surfaces that catch the light like a cut jewel and interiors that elevate Maybach design to new heights. Through an unexpected and progressive storyline, Night Series defies convention to spark new brand desire amongst new audiences. This plays out in both the interior and exterior design details of three Mercedes-Maybach models led by the S-Class, as well as EQS SUV – the first electric Mercedes-Maybach – and GLS. The Maybach Night Series design package provides both style and substance with a bold appearance, reflecting the vehicles' progressive character.

"Night Series is the most progressive Maybach design package – it's our already well-known supreme aesthetics, heightened with exquisite, darkened motifs. Our goal was to create an exciting new style, offering a playful sense of rebellion that is unexpected to what you usually see in a Mercedes-Maybach."

Gorden Wagener, Chief Design Officer Mercedes-Benz Group AG

"The Mercedes-Maybach brand continues to strongly resonate with global connoisseurs, and we are proud to offer a unique automotive experience that captures the best of tradition and progression, through products that are aligned with trend developments and cultural topics."

Michael Schiebe, CEO of Mercedes-AMG GmbH and Head of business units Mercedes-Benz G-Class & Mercedes-Maybach

"The Mercedes-Maybach brand goes beyond the product, which is why it is so important to create experiences and options that fit our customers' status and personal style. Night Series is the next step in offering a true luxury, tailored experience targeted at a new audience, but simultaneously responding to current customers' desires."

Daniel Lescow, Head of Mercedes-Maybach at Mercedes-Benz Group AG

The progressive Maybach Night Series design package is curated for three Mercedes-Maybach models, all of which include elements in dark chrome, rose gold details, an innovative wheel design refined with a dark-glossy Maybach pattern, as well as herringbone interior accents. An exclusive Night Series start-up animation for the MBUX interface and unique ambient lighting compliment the Night Series color palette. Each model also features its own distinctive design signatures.

The Mercedes-Maybach EQS SUV

Fresh from its world premiere in April 2023, the EQS SUV – the first all-electric Mercedes-Maybach and the newest model from the brand – can be ordered in the Night Series design package. The individual headlights are adorned with a Maybach emblem on rose gold and with dark chrome refinements. The front grille panel is enhanced with darkened Maybach pinstripes, while the air intake inserts in the front bumper are refined with a dark chrome-plated pattern of the Maybach emblem.

The EQS SUV is brimming with unique details and accents, including side windows with generous, highly polished black surrounds in 3D design. A rear and roof spoiler complement its sporty-aerodynamic trim; the running board is refined in black, sporting a Maybach emblem in dark chrome.

The Night Series design package for the EQS SUV is available with an exclusive Obsidian Black/Mojave Silver two-tone paint finish, as well as Obsidian Black and MANUFAKTUR Diamond White finishes.

The interior reflects the vehicle's unique combination of luxury and sustainability. It features Econyl® carpet throughout and vegetable-tanned Exclusive Nappa Leather in MANUFAKTUR Crystal White/Black Pearl or MANUFAKTUR Black Pearl colorways with contrast topstitching. This is complimented by the MANUFAKTUR Natural Grain Herringbone wood pattern trim with aluminum accents.

The Mercedes-Maybach S-Class

The Maybach Night Series design package brings the luxury and refinement of the Mercedes-Maybach S-Class to new heights. Customers can choose a variety of paint finishes in grey, black and white hues, as well as a unique two-tone Onyx Black/Mojave Silver finish.

Precious details include rose gold accents in the headlights and dark metallic chrome elements, adding to the design's elegant, stretched silhouette, which is accentuated by tailpipe trim elements in dark chrome and black.

While the already iconic interior of the S-Class exemplifies the highest levels of luxury, the Night Series expands the exclusivity with two unique interior colors: MANUFAKTUR Deep White/Black Pearl Exclusive Nappa Leather or MANUFAKTUR Black Pearl Exclusive Nappa Leather, which with the golden-grey glossy piping subtly emphasizes the special nature of the vehicle.

The Mercedes-Maybach GLS

The GLS Night Series boasts a front fascia with elegant dark chrome elements including an upright Mercedes star on the hood, radiator grille, trim parts and Maybach pattern in the air inlet grilles. The headlights feature subtle, elegant rose gold details, while dark chrome accents adorn the vehicle's profile. In addition, the electronically extendable running boards are dark anodized. A distinctive 23-inch wheel in exquisite Maybach design further underlines the character-defining profile.

Exclusive Obsidian Black/Mojave Silver two-tone paint is available for the GLS with the Maybach Night Series design package, in addition to finishes in a white hue or Obsidian Black.

The interior can be appointed with a choice of MANUFAKTUR Black Pearl Exclusive Nappa Leather or MANUFAKTUR Crystal White/Black Pearl Exclusive Nappa Leather. The sophisticated MANUFAKTUR Natural Grain Herringbone pattern wood trim in an open-pore brown finish with aluminum accents exemplifies the vehicle's unparalleled craftsmanship.

The Maybach Night Series design package will be available for the 2024 Mercedes-Maybach S-Class as well as the 2024 Mercedes-Maybach EQS SUV alongside its U.S. market introduction later in 2023, followed by the 2024 Mercedes-Maybach GLS in early 2024.

In addition, partner company MAYBACH Icons of Luxury will soon present a collection inspired by Night Series, featuring bags, sneakers and eyewear. -www.mbusa.com

17TH LA JOLLA CONCOURS d'ELEGANCE IS BEST ATTENDED EVER

written by David M. Brown

A 1931 Duesenberg Model J Weymann "TaperTail" Speedster was selected Best in Show at the 17th La Jolla Concours d'Elegance, presented by LPL Financial, Pacific Sotheby's International Realty and Panerai, April 21, 22 and 23 at Ellen Scripps Browning Park above La Jolla Cove. The winning owner is the William Lyon Family.

This was the best-attended event yet, with 8,800 guests and 128 cars for the ticketed La Jolla Concours and more than 15,000 visitors for the free La Jolla Concours d'Elegance Motor Car Classic held on Saturday. Also concurrent events, the Motor Car Classic showed 43 Ferraris and Porsches on Prospect 80 Porsches.

"Everyone has been raving about the event and, of course, the amazing venue, cars, hospitality and weather," says Co-Chairman G. Michael Dorvillier, who was one of the event honorees with Randy Ema.

Brian Graff, founder and CEO of Highline Autos, a sponsor, adds "La Jolla has always been a favorite weekend for our magazine. It combines great classic cars and motorcycles, parties, fabulous food and drinks, three days of events, fellow car lovers and the fabulous park setting above the Pacific. You just can't top that."

On Friday, April 21, the La Jolla Concours began with the Friday night VIP soiree "Beyond the Garden Gates" on the park lawn. On Saturday, April 22, car aficionados motored around San Diego County. The tour guests ended their cruise with a private lunch at the La Jolla Beach and Tennis Club.

On Sunday, an all-volunteer committee led by Co-Chairs G. Michael Dorvillier, Robert F. Kerner Jr. and Chief Judge Nigel Matthews judged the classic cars. Complementing this was La Jolla Champagne and Honey Tasting Garden, offering champagne cocktails and tastings of chocolate and flights of honey from around the world. VIP guests also enjoyed food from more than 16 local chefs and bar service.

Another Duesenberg, a 1933 Duesenberg SJ Arlington Torpedo Sedan, was the Outstanding Pre-War vehicle, from The Nethercutt Collection, Helen & Jack Nethercutt. The Outstanding Post-War car was a 1959 Maserati GT 3500

Spyder, owned by Phil White; another 3500 GT from 1960, owned by Jim Gianopolos, won the Panerai Timeless Elegance Award.

Two beautiful Delahayes won, respectively, the Aubrey Taylor Upholstery Award and the Honorary Judges Award: a 1953 135MS CL Spéciale Faget-Varnet Coach, Anthony Collé, owner; and a 1951 35 Saoutchik, Peter and Merle Mullin, owners.

American-made car winners included, for the Mayor's Award, a 1957 Cadillac Eldorado Brougham 4 Door Sedan, James Justus, owner; the Paul Emple Award "Paul's Choice," a 1936 Auburn 852SC Speedster, Ray and Sue Carpenter; Taylor Kahle American Muscle Award, 1964 Corvette Stingray Convertible, Ade Tuyao. And, Tom Armstrong won the Marc Camille Lemieux Motorcycle Award for his 1959 BMW R50 Motorcycle.

"The La Jolla Concours has world-class cars and a world class experience. I have heard over and over even if you're not a gear head there is something for everyone. It's the perfect event to bring your friend, partner and/or significant other as everyone will have a fantastic time," Dorvillier says. "We really worked hard to create an event that shows the beauty of La Jolla, the beauty of cars in a very southern California/ La Jolla charming way and also raised needed funds for the La Jolla Historical Society."

Next year's 18th event will be held April 19, 20 and 21.

ASTON MARTIN UNVEILS ITS FIRST ULTRA-LUXURY FLAGSHIP, Q NEW YORK

Where Savile Row meets Park Avenue. Aston Martin proudly opens the doors to Q New York, its first ultra-luxury flagship on 450 Park Avenue, in New York City.

The new location brings the highest levels of the iconic British brand's bespoke service, Q by Aston Martin to North America for the very first time, providing the most sophisticated luxury specification experience available anywhere in the world.

The first-of-its-kind landmark location forms a key pillar of Aston Martin's ultra-luxury brand and customer experience strategy, with the commitment to provide the very best possible environment for its most discerning clients to create their own intimately personal Aston Martin.

Conscientiously designed to immerse onlookers into the thrilling world of Aston Martin, visitors on Park Avenue are greeted by a unique window installation of epic proportion, named the 'Champagne Frame'. Created with one of the largest single panes of glass ever installed into a New York building, the grand window frame looks into the stars - Aston Martin's most iconic models – which are carefully illuminated by an impressive 2,100 bulb chandelier – spanning 131-feet. Meanwhile, the use of mosaic tiles and commanding dining tables helps define the new flagship, bringing the best of British to one of the most prominent streets in the world.

The new location will serve as a showcase and launch venue for Aston Martin's latest products, from unique special builds to limited-edition models and newcomers to Aston Martin's breath-taking portfolio. From today, the flagship proudly displays the all-new DB12 in North America for the very first time, in addition to the era-defining Aston Martin Valkyrie AMR Pro hypercar.

Q New York offers an ultimate blend of digital and physical car configuration. As part of a custom-made appointment, clients will be able to visualise their personalised Aston Martin on a 35-foot x 10-foot LED wall capable of providing an ultra-high definition, 360-degree view of any Aston Martin in real-life size. Sitting at the intersection between the physical and digital worlds, Aston Martin's intention is to provide such a realistic configuration that clients feel as though they could open the door to their car.

Use of the most innovative Near-Field Communication (NFC) technology will facilitate a seamless, high-end customer specification service, allowing clients to combine the sensorial touch and feel of physical colour and trim samples with live configuration on screen.

A live video link from Manhattan to Aston Martin's design studio in Gaydon, UK, enables real-time communication with the brand's renowned designers and the Q by Aston Martin team, providing the most bespoke and sophisticated commissioning experience available outside of a personal visit to headquarters.

Offering a concierge experience, carefully curated high-end dining and overnight travel experiences will also be available for those seeking to extend and elevate the experience of creating their own Aston Martin.

Q by Aston Martin represents a key pillar of Aston Martin's ultra-luxury strategy, giving clients the ultimate sense of freedom and expression when customising their cars. Whilst a long-standing part of Aston Martin's DNA, this bespoke service facilitates the growing trend of personalisation across the luxury goods segment.

Recent years have seen significant growth for the Q by Aston Martin division with a record number of Aston Martin units sold with bespoke touches and elements in 2022, representing a 51% year-on-year increase. Notably, the Americas is the fastest growing region for Q by Aston Martin, with 92% year-on-year growth in 2022.

Special and limited-edition models have supported this growth, following the introduction of specific Q by Aston Martin: Collection options. These carefully-selected collections are fully costed and visible on the Aston Martin configurator, acting as a significant gateway to introducing customers to the world of Q by Aston Martin and demonstrating the possibilities of this most intimate of services.

Q by Aston Martin: Commission, the very highest level of the bespoke service, takes customers on an even more exclusive journey that involves a personal collaboration with the Aston Martin design team. This provides an unrivalled opportunity to create a truly bespoke, individual car, with customers known to invest upwards of 30% of the car's original retail value to add their own mark and achieve a truly bespoke creation.

Located on one of the most prominent corners of Midtown Manhattan, Q New York unites both the handcrafted and high-tech nature of Aston Martin, showcasing the very best of British craftsmanship and engineering against the backdrop of an immersive specification experience, thanks to state-of-the-art technology.

Lawrence Stroll, Executive Chairman of Aston Martin said: “The opening of our first flagship Q location, in our largest commercial market, is the latest distinct expression of Aston Martin’s shift to an ultra-luxury brand. It demonstrates our ambition to drive global growth and create elevated customer experiences to match our owners’ passion for Aston Martin.

“We recognise the growing trend of personalisation across the luxury goods segment and see huge value in investing in our customer experience to create the best specification experiences available anywhere in the world. With a 92% increase in Q by Aston Martin take-up in the Americas last year, this is the perfect time and the perfect place for us to open our very first global flagship location.”

The design principles of the space are built upon quintessentially British architecture, including extensive use of mosaic tiles, chandeliers, beautifully framed grand windows, fireplaces, and mantel pieces, as well as large scaling dining tables.

Ensuring the space reflects the latest design trends befitting of 21st century Manhattan, an extensive level of attention has been paid to adapting materials and furnishings, all of which are underlined with a conscious awareness of sustainable materials and practises, in line with Aston Martin’s Racing. Green. sustainability strategy.

Marek Reichman, Executive Vice President and Chief Creative Officer of Aston Martin said: “Creating wondrous places, spaces and experiences are important design statements for us. And just as we belong in Formula One as British makers of ultra-luxury high-performance sports cars, Aston Martin belongs in New York City. It’s a place where dreams come true.

“We have created Q New York as a landmark across the Atlantic where our customers can collaborate with our designers to make their own lifelong Aston Martin dreams come true. “This is our version of creative performance design and precision craft at their finest – with sights and sounds, shapes and forms, and vivid colours and textured materials – all presented using the latest technology to provide customers with the engaging Aston Martin experience that they deserve.”

Q New York is now officially open at 450 Park Avenue, with appointments available to be scheduled by any Aston Martin dealer. -www.astonmartin.com
